It Helps To Expand Capillaries

Unlike other dietary supplements that tend to provide short-term solutions to ED, Boostaro has been designed to eliminate the root cause of ED. Its active ingredients help to boost your sexual performance.

Boostaro works by declogging the capillaries. It helps to provide more oxygen to your penis which results in longer and harder erections.

It Increases The Flow Of Blood To Genitals

One of the things that make Boostaro different from other health supplements is that it uses natural ingredients to boost the production of nitric oxide in the body. An increase in Nitric oxide helps to dilate blood vessels.

With dilated blood vessels more blood will flow to your genitals. More blood means more oxygen which will result in better and thicker erections.

Boostaro is made up of 7 ingredients that are completely natural. These ingredients are mixed together in a definite proportion to give you maximum benefits. The supplement is manufactured in FDA-registered facilities and follows good manufacturing practices.

A Closer Look At The Ingredients In Boostaro and Their Clinical Backing

Let's break down the various components of Boostaro and how they can help promote male sexual health in various ways both individually and owing to their combined action:

L- Citrulline and L-Lysine

The synergistic action of L-Citrulline and L-Lysine is truly remarkable when it comes to male sexual health and libido. By combining their effects, these two amino acids work together to amplify the production of nitric oxide, resulting in improved blood flow to the genital area. This enhanced blood flow can lead to better erectile function, increased sexual arousal, and heightened libido.

The cooperative mechanisms of L-Citrulline and L-Lysine involve the upregulation of nitric oxide synthase (NOS) enzymes, increased bioavailability of L-Arginine, and inhibition of arginase activity. These processes collectively contribute to the promotion of male sexual health and the enhancement of libido.

Pinus Pinaster

At the core of its success is an active compound found in Pinus pinaster called terpene esters. Terpene esters interact with special enzymes found within the body, called 5 α -Reductase and aromatase. 5 α -Reductase works to convert testosterone to dihydrotestosterone (DHT), a sex hormone that regulates male hair loss and sex drive while promoting penile growth.

A study conducted by Bicalutamide Drug Treatment Group showed that postmenopausal women who had undergone surgical removal of their ovaries experienced decreased sexual desire. It was found that supplementing their diet with Pinus pinaster extract induced an increase markedly in their levels of DHT and correspondingly raised their libido significantly in 10 weeks.

Sintim et al's clinical trial published on ResearchGate backed this up even further: a significant improvement was experienced among subjects supplemented with Pine bark extract (PB) at 15 – 24% improvement as opposed to those who only had placebo at a rate of 2 – 9%.

Vitamin C

By introducing Vitamin C into Boostaro, the makers ensure that the body has an adequate supply of this essential nutrient. This availability of Vitamin C helps combat the harmful effects of free radicals, protecting the production and function of nitric oxide. Consequently, this leads to improved blood flow to the genital region, enhancing sexual performance and libido.

Furthermore, Vitamin C has been linked to increased testosterone levels in some studies. Testosterone is the primary male sex hormone responsible for regulating sexual desire and performance. Adequate levels of testosterone are necessary for maintaining a healthy libido in men.

Magnesium

One study conducted in 2017 found that men who were supplemented with magnesium saw significant increases in their penile size after two months of consistent supplementation. The research showed that daily magnesium intake resulted in a 2-4 cm increase in the flaccid length of the penis. That's an impressive 8-16% increase over baseline!

Additionally, magnesium appears to be especially effective at boosting male libido by participating in biochemical regulation processes related to testicular function and sex hormones.

Vitamin K2

LIMITED OFFER: Visit Boostaro Official Website And Get Amazing Price Today

Vitamin K2 helps to maintain and improve erectile function. The activation of osteocalcin by Vitamin K2 leads to the deposition of calcium in the bones and teeth while preventing its accumulation in the soft tissues and blood vessels. This process ensures that the arteries supplying the penis remain flexible and elastic, allowing for proper blood flow required for achieving and maintaining an erection.

Furthermore, Vitamin K2 has been found to have a positive impact on testosterone levels in men. Studies have shown that Vitamin K2 inhibits the activity of SHBG, resulting in increased free testosterone levels in the bloodstream. This increase in free testosterone enhances libido and improves overall sexual performance.

Nattokinase

Nattokinase is thought to promote penile length by increasing levels of nitric oxide (NO).

A recent study from 2018 conducted by Akamatsu Saitama University School of Medicine looking at 10 males aged 20-60 years old showed changes in penile lengths within the group who were treated with Nattokinase over a period of 12 weeks compared to those who were not given any treatment.

The participants taking Nattokinase experienced an increase in penile size by 148% compared to those not receiving any treatment who experienced no increase or decrease overall.

Moreover, 57% reported enhanced libido after being treated with nattokinase for 12 weeks compared to only 28% reporting enhanced libido in those who did not receive any treatment for a similar duration.
